

Today was another highlight day for the 93 boys...and it had very little to do with soccer. We got up at 6:30am to get ready to depart for the Canopy Tour--a Zip Line activity that all will remember. It is quite an experience to travel 100 ft in the air or more for 100 yards or significantly more. Just something I doubt the boys will forget!

After that we traveled safely back to San Jose where we'll remain for the rest of the trip. Because of the distance we had to travel today (and the number of turns on the mountain roads--yikes it is tough to be in the back of the bus), we had a light training session spent on a tennis court as we rest up for the 9:30am kickoff against the 92 National Team of Costa Rica tomorrow. I imagine it will be another highlight for our boys!

(I reported yesterday that we played against the 92 San Carlos team; come to find out they were their 91s, which put our result in a better light. :))
