

2009 REGION IV 94 BOYS ODP CAMP

Day 4

Everyone woke up sore, yet very excited for the day of soccer today in Oregon. The weather started off cool and brisk, warmed up in midday, and was capped off by a perfect evening. The weather matched the perfection of the day.

Due to the fact that the teams were showing a little "wear," the Region IV staff coaches took the morning sessions to focus on stretching/regeneration as well as some "games." Almost all the games were fun, yet involved a great deal of technique. For example, Coach Eric Yamamoto played soccer tennis with Nevada and Oregon, and Coach Agoos taught a "Heading Game" incorporating Utah and Cal South. After lunch, it was off to the football stadium to watch the Identification Game. Again, there was a classic battle of Whites vs. Dark, with Whites winning both 30 minute mini-games 1 to 0. The games were very competitive, yet the style of play was very attractive. Tomorrow, with the Whites and the Darks tied up with 2 wins, 2 losses, and a tie a piece, the pressure is on!

The evening games were very competitive once again! (See scores below.) Despite the fact, the camp is coming to a close; the players are still lively and excited to play. It has made for a great atmosphere and some exciting play. The night ended quietly and without incident.
